Ok este fuente the guardian. 07_Ardern_Christchurch 28 MARZO 2019 E rau rangatira mā, e ngā reo, e ngā mana. Tōnā koutou katoa. segundosNgāi Tahu Whānui, tōnā koutou. segundosE papaki tā ana ngā tai o maumahara ki runga o tātaui. segundosHaere mai tātou me te aroha, me te rangimārie, ki te whānau nei, segundose ora mārire ai anā rātau, e ora mārire ai anā, tātou katoa. segundosWe gather here, 14 days on from our darkest of hours. segundosIn the days that have followed the terrorist attack on the 15th of March, we have often found ourselves without words.

minuto y 5 segundosWhat words adequately express the pain and suffering of 50 men, women and children lost, and so many injured? minuto y 16 segundosWhat words capture the anguish of our Muslim community being the target of hatred and violence? minuto y 24 segundosWhat words express the grief of a city that has already known so much pain? I thought there were none. minuto y 32 segundosAnd then I came here and was met with this simple greeting. As-salaam Alaikum. Peace be upon you. minuto y 42 segundosThey were simple words, repeated by community leaders who witnessed the loss of their friends and loved ones.

Simple words, whispered by the injured from their hospital beds. minuto y 53 segundosSimple words, spoken by the bereaved and everyone I met who has been affected by this attack. As-salaam Alaikum. Peace be upon you. minutos y 4 segundosThey were words spoken by a community who, minutos y 6 segundosin the face of hate and violence, had every right to express anger but instead opened their doors for all of us to grieve with them. minutos y 16 segundosAnd so we say to those who have lost the most, we may not have always had the words.

minutos y 23 segundosWe may have left flowers, performed the haka, sung songs or simply embraced. minutos y 31 segundosBut even when we had no words, we still heard yours, and they have left us humbled and they have left us united. minutos y 43 segundosOver the past two weeks we have heard the stories of those impacted by this terrorist attack. They were stories of bravery. minutos y 50 segundosThey were stories of those who were born here, grew up here, or who had made New Zealand their home. minutos y 58 segundosWho had sought refuge, or sought a better life for themselves or their families.

These stories, they now form part of our collective memories. minutos y 9 segundosThey will remain with us forever. They are us. But with that memory comes a responsibility. minutos y 18 segundosA responsibility to be the place that we wish to be. A place that is diverse, that is welcoming, that is kind and compassionate. minutos y 28 segundosThose values represent the very best of us. But even the ugliest of viruses can exist in places they are not welcome. minutos y 39 segundosRacism exists, but it is not welcome here.

minutos y 44 segundosAn assault on the freedom of any one of us who practices their faith or religion, is not welcome here. minutos y 50 segundosViolence, and extremism in all its forms, is not welcome here. minutos y 56 segundos minutos y 1 segundoAnd over the last two weeks we have shown that. You have shown that in your actions. minutos y 9 segundosFrom the thousands at vigils to the 95-year-old man who took four buses to attend a rally because he couldn't sleep from the sadness of seeing the hurt and suffering of others.

minutos y 23 segundosOur challenge now is to make the very best of us, a daily reality. minutos y 30 segundosBecause we are not immune to the viruses of hate, of fear, of other. We never have been. minutos y 39 segundosBut we can be the nation that discovers the cure. And so to each of us as we go from here, minutos y 47 segundoswe have work to do, but do not leave the job of combatting hate to the government alone. minutos y 54 segundosWe each hold the power, in our words and in our actions, in our daily acts of kindness.

minutos y 1 segundoLet that be the legacy of the 15th of March: to be the nation we believe ourselves to be. minutos y 10 segundosTo the global community who have joined us today, who reached out to embrace New Zealand, and our Muslim community, minutos y 18 segundosto all of those who have gathered here with us, we say thank you. minutos y 22 segundosAnd we also ask that the condemnation of violence and terrorism turns now to a collective response. minutos y 30 segundosThe world has been stuck in a vicious cycle of extremism breeding extremism and it must end.

minutos y 37 segundosWe cannot confront ... minutos y 47 segundosWe cannot confront these issues alone, none of us can. minutos y 51 segundosBut the answer to them lies in a simple concept that is not bound by domestic borders, that isn't based on ethnicity, minutospower base or even forms of governance. The answer lies in our humanity. minutos y 8 segundosBut for now, we will remember those who have left this place. minutos y 14 segundosWe will remember the first responders who gave so much of themselves to save others.

We will remember the tears of our nation, minutos y 22 segundosand the new resolve we have formed. minutos y 24 segundosAnd we remember, that ours is a home that does not and cannot claim perfection. minutos y 31 segundosBut we can strive to be true to the words embedded in our national anthem: minutos y 38 segundos"Men of every creed and race, Gather here before Thy face, minutos y 46 segundosAsking Thee to bless this place God defend our free land minutos y 51 segundosFrom dissension, envy, hate And corruption, guard our state Make our country good and great God defend New Zealand" minutos y 5 segundosKo tūātou tūātou.

minutos y 7 segundosAs-salaam Alaikum minutos y 9 segundos
